Bullying is described as a constant barrage of aggressive behavior, including calling names, threatening, intimidating, and taunting. It can be harmful to the bully as well as to the victim. Bullies may feel superior and not see the consequences of their actions. They may be unable to understand the pain they cause. Victims of bullying may become emotionally stressed, developed eating disorders and may become withdrawn from society. It is important to intervene and stop bullying before it becomes a problem in the workplace or in the community. Bullying is a serious problem that needs to be addressed.

November beneficiary

Your Mountain Connection donates $205 every month to a local nonprofit featured on this page through the Mountain Connection Beneficiary Program. To date, Your Mountain Connection has donated more than $115,000.

Dru Ahlborg is the mother of two sons who were bullied at their middle school in a small town in Colorado. Her sons, 12 and 14, were diagnosed with Stress Disorder (PTSD), depression and anxiety, and have become a prevalent and serious problem in schools, workplaces, and society in general.

In 2017, Dru and her husband Tom founded the BRRC (Bullying Recovery Resource Center) to help bullying victims and families. The BRRC offers help to parents to advocate in their children’s schools and to provide groups for parents of children who were bullied, through social events and activities, as well as participating in service projects. Through BRRC, we make our beds, take our children to school, and we help each other. BRRC also offers Bullying Recovery Support Groups, social activities such as bowling parties, and offers groups for parents of children who were bullied.

ADOLPH COORS: It’s All About Family

Part 2 of a 2-part series

REPRINT COURTESY MARGO HAMILTON | [MAY/JUNE 2004 | EVERGREEN LOVING]

Three generations later, the Coors family honors the corporation’s evolution over a century by the building of the second tallest mountain, where Adolph himself placed and worked the copper brewing kettles. The Corporate Contributions Program was established to help people in need throughout the United States. The seeds of this vision undoubtedly took root in the heart of Adolph Coors before the formation of Coors in America soil. Painting his American dreams, Adolph was afforded opportunities that connected with the spirit and allowed him to succeed magnificently. Now Adolph Coors is giving something back through nonprofit agencies worldwide, making efforts to build strong communities and viable families. Most often, we work through fireplaces in a residential division in a large group project, between a kitchen and dining area, or between the master suite and bath. A see-through fireplace can be like two fireplaces in one.

You can replace your fireplace with one that is a different shape and size. You don’t have to settle for a boring, bland, black, and blurry fireplace anymore! The cornerstone fireplace tends to incorporate new styles of fireplaces in unconventional places! From long, low linear fireplace to portrait style fireplaces that are taller than they are wide, we have the perfect option for accentuating and warming your home.

You are probably familiar with the familiar style fireplaces: the traditional fireplace shape is rectangular and square. While these are still immensely popular, your options for a new fireplace are no longer limited to a traditional look.

Linear fireplaces are some of the most popular fireplaces in homes worldwide and new custom homes. This style of fireplace is usually about 15” tall, but ranges from 30” to 72” wide. Because of the many options for width, there is a perfect linear fireplace for every option.

You can customize your firebox shape: from traditional log to contemporary glass. You can also choose from a vast variety of metal finishes for the front and decorative finishes for the back panels. Some linear fireplaces can also be made to be see-through, so the beauty of the flame serves as a window between rooms of a common area that you want to make warmer; such as a bathroom, study, or breakfast nook. Of course, more models also offer the variety of customizable options: legs, firebacks, metal finishes on the front, and more—so you can make your fireplace fit the décor of your home.

Beyond gas appearances, there are a few reasons of reasons to upgrade your fireplace. The increased efficiency and safety of newer units is also a great reason to consider replacement. Today’s fireplaces are factory-built, which means their construction as a metal box: fluid, firebox, and fireback that sandwich together metal panels. Many of these manufactured fireplaces are standard looking and, so they can be nearly anywhere in your home. You can even put a fireplace where you want one before! Technology for fireplaces has improved dramatically in the last few decades. The biggest advancement is theotekm technology, which makes the fireplace a scaled system. Direct vent in a control setting that brings combustion of air from the outdoors and exhausts combustion products by restore silver lines, direct vent is the standard for today’s gas fireplaces.

Another improvement in today’s gas fireplaces is remote, and inserts in the use of electronic glass. This special glass is designed to transmit heat from the firebox into the living room. The combination of direct vent technology, upgraded burner and ceramic glass make gas more gas-friendly units up to 85% efficient. These appliances are great at heating your home and saving you money on your utility bills.

Another benefit to consider is that new gas units also work as a power source. Most of these gas fireplaces, stoves and inserts have a backup system that will light the pilot if the power is out. You will be able to use natural gas fireplaces to heat your home even without electricity!

You’re invited to visit the showroom at 7001 Highway 73 to see our gas units in all shapes and sizes. We have the perfect fireplaces and inserts for your home! Visit us from Monday through Saturday, 9am–5pm, or on Sunday, 10am–4pm. You can also see our showroom on the weekends, or call us at 303.679.1601 to schedule an appointment.

To date over $115,000 has been donated to mountain area nonprofits by Coors.
Eat Smart during the Holiday Season

BY DEB BROWN, NSCA-CPT, CNS, CWC

The holiday season is fast approaching! Starting with Halloween and progressing 8 weeks through New Year’s Day, this time can be challenging to maintain our healthy eating habits. The trick is to enjoy it, and I believe that eating healthily isn’t just about good nutrition, it’s about choosing the right foods to nourish us.

I look at food both as the fuel that keeps me energized for all the demands of my life and as a form of preventive medicine. “You are what you eat” rings true to me. I want to be more organic, rather than made up of chemicals that I cannot pronounce, and therefore I eat a lot of whole foods and limit my intake of processed foods. However, there is another side to food that I think we sometimes neglect: the enjoyment of eating.

Eating is a sensual experience. We use multiple senses while eating: smell, sight, touch, and taste. Shouldn’t you enjoy it? If you are just eating grilled chicken and steamed vegetables all the time, where is the joy in that?

So, this holiday season, enjoy small amounts of your favorites. Eat your piece of pumpkin pie (or whatever you love) and enjoy it. Yes, it does have sugar, fat and empty calories. But you know what? It tastes good to me. I enjoy it. I eat it. I enjoy the memories it brings back. It’s what makes food so special.

Life is too short to stress about eating a piece of pie or extra cookies at Christmas! Just enjoy it. Yes, it does have sugar, fat and empty calories. But you know what? It tastes good. Part of what makes us each special and unique is our memories, tastes and preferences. We all have favorites. These favorites do have a place on your table. They help you connect with your family. They bring back memories. They make you feel happy. They are what make food special.

Thanksgiving is approaching and do I have news for you!

According to the late gentleman Michael Gannon, respected historian and academic, Thanksgiving should not be about Plymouth Plantation, Massachusetts, and 1621, but instead, should be about St. Augustine, Florida, and 1565. Now, anyone who may still remain skeptical of Gannon’s claims might want to consider this as well. The city of St. Augustine is famous for being the oldest continuously-occupied European settlement in the U.S. So, who said we Americans are new to this land? Our ancestors have been here for over four centuries. In fact, the Spanish admiral kissed a cross held aloft by the indigenous Timucua tribe following his landing on September 8, 1565. The English Pilgrims didn’t get around to roasting their vegetables until 1621. (Google him. This was one accomplished man!)

Gannon has a list of accomplishments that can impress the harshest critics. (Google him. This tale might hold some truth. Sure enough, Gannon claimed that the first Thanksgiving occurred in St. Augustine on September 8, 1565. The English Pilgrims didn’t get around to roasting their vegetables until 1621. Having never heard this, I set to work to learn the facts. I uncovered that Gannon claimed Florida for both his God and his country. So, it seems that instead of eating turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, and red wine, “we” (the Spanish) were treated to dinner, rather than the other way around.

As you are thinking about your dog and how you are quite particular about enhancing your life, think about all the times they make you laugh or smile."

It’s that time of year when we take some time to reflect on what we are thankful for. Of course we think of all the family and the things we enjoy doing together. Living in the mountains is definitely something we want to be grateful for. We also appreciate our four-legged friends. Dogs fill our lives with unconditional love, comfort, amusement, and pleasure.

A Skeptic’s View

TRICK or Treat?

BY GARY LOLFIER

Why do we still believe in ghosts? Is the idea of ghosts nothing more than a whimsical notion, or could there be something to them? The practice of Halloween has been around for centuries, and it is believed that the beliefs and traditions surrounding the holiday dates back to ancient Celtic culture. The Celts believed that on the night of Samhain, the boundary between the worlds of the living and the dead was said to be at its thinnest, allowing spirits to roam freely. Over time, these beliefs have evolved into the modern-day celebration of Halloween, with its iconic symbols such as pumpkins, witches, and ghosts.

Today, many people continue to believe in ghosts and the existence of other supernatural phenomena. Whether these beliefs are based on personal experiences, cultural traditions, or a desire to think of the unknown, they have persisted throughout history. While some may dismiss these beliefs as mere superstition, others find comfort and inspiration in the idea of a world beyond our own.

"I erred for my pet dog, Nika, on the last Thursday of the month since the time when we observed the national holiday to the fourth Thursday of November. It was moved to the last Thursday of the month nearly 80 years ago. I will forever be indebted to Teddy for his commitments in service to our country."

"Thank you for the help that comes with a bad day done, and the excitement that comes with the sun rising in the morning."

Count Your Blessings

BY KAARSTEN TURNER DALBY

Life can be a feast of disappointment, despair, and brokenness. However, amidst those trials, there is light — so much light."

Some of the main reasons people believe in ghosts are the feeling of being watched, hearing unexplained noises, or experiencing otherworldly events. These experiences can be difficult to explain and may be attributed to a wide range of factors, from personal trauma to a desire to believe in something beyond our own understanding.

While some may dismiss these beliefs as mere superstition, others find comfort and inspiration in the idea of a world beyond our own. These beliefs can provide a sense of comfort and hope in the face of difficult times, and may even help us to connect with something greater than ourselves.

However, it is important to remember that there is no scientific evidence to support the existence of ghosts or other supernatural phenomena. While some people may find comfort in these beliefs, it is ultimately up to each individual to decide whether they believe in ghosts or not, and to explore their own personal beliefs and experiences.

The idea of ghosts has been a part of human culture for thousands of years, and it is likely that they will continue to be a part of our lives for generations to come. Whether we choose to believe in them or not, the idea of ghosts serves as a reminder of the mysteries and uncertainties that surround us. As we continue to explore the world around us, we may never know the true answers to these questions, but we can always hope for a better understanding of the unknown.
As the holiday season approaches and we get ready to give thanks for what we have and then go get some more of it, I want to share some of the things I learned while fortunate enough to be able to spend a month living in the little town that we have adopted in rural Tuscany.

Tuscany is named for the Etruscans, who first knew it as the heartland of the Roman Republic. It was the Romans who called the people they invaded in the area the Etruscans, a name that has endured to the present day. Today Tuscany is famous for its wines, hills, and cities such as Florence and Siena, but in the year 1596, the town of Montalcino was under siege by Spanish soldiers. The people of Montalcino gathered together and defended their homes and town, and they were victorious. The town was once again free to live their lives as they pleased.

Montalcino was one of the birthplaces of the Renaissance. Because Siena was the birthplace of the Renaissance, it is considered the birthplace of the Renaissance. Because Siena was the birthplace of the Renaissance, it is considered the birthplace of the Renaissance. Because Siena was the birthplace of the Renaissance, it is considered the birthplace of the Renaissance.

Montalcino is in the region of Tuscany, which is known for its wine. Wine has been produced in Tuscany for thousands of years, and the region is home to some of the world's best wines. The wines of Tuscany are known for their full body, rich flavors, and complex aromas. The region is home to several important wineproducing areas, including the Chianti Classico area.

The summer’s out of reach
The sun goes down alone
Nobody on the beach

I can’t understand what
You look for if you’re not home

I can’t believe this is my life
It’s the one that I love

I don’t understand what
There’s no place like home

Moving to Montana, I gained an early appreciation for the beauty and serenity of the Rockies. Some of my earliest memories are of Yellowstone National Park, where, as a child, I roamed the parks and countryside and experienced the awe-inspiring beauty of nature. Today, as a photographer, I continue to capture the essence of the Rockies, offering a unique perspective of the majestic landscape. My work is a celebration of the natural world, and I strive to create images that convey the beauty and majesty of the Rockies. Through my photography, I hope to inspire others to explore the natural world and appreciate the wonder and beauty that surrounds us.

The Lariat Loop National Scenic Byway

40 Miles of Western Adventure

BY TIM SANDSMARK, LARIAT LOOP HERITAGE ALLIANCE BOARD MEMBER, EDUCATION SUPERVISOR, JEFFERSON COUNTY OPEN SPACE AND EMA Members,

The Lariat Loop National Scenic Byway is literally a loop that connects Golden, Evergreen and Morrison in one of our nation’s national byways. The Evergreen area is a critical part of this loop.

This byway is a continuation of two historic telegraph trails, the Lariat Trail and the Bear Creek Canyon Scenic Mountain Drive. Both roadways were designated as National Scenic Byways under the National Highway Beautification Act of 1985.

Colorado’s 26 byways are designated as America’s Scenic Mountain Drives. The Lariat Loop National Scenic Byway is literally a loop that connects Golden and Morrison. It is our most precious non-renewable asset. Expert instruction and skilled leadership. The wayside becomes more of a tourist mecca.

A further stage in growth in the 1950s and 60s helped spur the creation of the Jefferson County Open Space Program, where the citizens of Jefferson County voted to designate a half of one percent sales tax which contributed to city and park district projects and has preserved more than 50,000 acres and 27 open space parks and formations of land that make Jefferson County unique.

The Lariat Loop National Scenic Byway provides a link to the diverse geology of the surrounding hills, making it easy for visitors to experience the history and culture of the area.

From the top of The Loop, you can see the beauty of the surrounding mountains and the ever-changing landscape. The Lariat Loop Heritage Alliance is committed to preserving the history and heritage of the area for future generations.

Professional Automotive Repair from someone you can trust to do it right!

Ben Grant, the owner of Grant Automotive, grew up in Pine Junction and has always been involved in the mountain community. At the age of 15, Ben knew that his strong interest in automotive repair would determine his professional direction and after 12 years of working for Kevin’s Subaru he opened Grant Auto in July of 2000.

Ben has steadily built a loyal following and currently has ten employees. He estimates that he and his techs combine to reflect about 100 years of experience, and it is important to note that 30 of those years are his.

Ben prides himself in the volume of repeat service in American and Japanese-made vehicles. They have the latest computerized diagnostic equipment including two alignment racks that utilize digital cameras to align all four wheels accurately.

In addition to having the latest equipment, they can take care of all recommended mileage services for vehicle warranty, specializing in late-model fuel-injected cars and trucks. Diesel repair and performance upgrades such as exhaust systems and power chips are also offered.

If you need your car or truck repaired, need mileage services, basic services, or even new tires, Grant Automotive is the place to go.

It is located at 19356 Goddard Ranch Court on Highway 285, ½ mile south of North Turkey Creek, just 6.5 miles from C-470 and Highway 285 and just down from Aspen Park.
